Everything was green, everything was peaceful. Plants, animals, and humans roamed freely about the earth.

However, when a dangerous drought begins to dry out planet earth, the clouds above move about to rain as much as they can to keep their world safe. Unfortunately, Nimbly, the smallest of all the clouds, is unable to rain. Frowned upon at his inability to precipitate, he begins to lose hope until Precephanie, a strong-willed nimbus cloud, takes him up as her disciple to become the biggest storm cloud anyone has ever seen. As they both work together to reach their goal, the drought worsens as all abundant life on earth begins to horribly dwindle.

Can Nimbly become the greatest rain cloud of all before the great drought takes over the land for good?
