reflections from a broken stream Douglas Sinclair

"reflections from a broken stream" is a collection of 45 poems that are my response to the tsunami that is life in the twenty-first century written, I hope, with a clarity and depth that will engage readers - as a poem does - on many levels, but that at a minimum communicates a fundamental truth that is pure, simple, and universal in its appeal and at the same time is deeply personal as only a poem can be. From the first poem, 'reflections from a broken stream' with its existential angst through the next 44 and culminating in the last poem, "Outward Bound", with its message of hope, these poems evolve from a literary tradition stretching back to Dante and Shakespeare: 45 poems exploring the multi-faceted depths of human experience and emotion written with a singular objective of connecting with my reader. I truly hope you enjoy reading them as much as I enjoyed the struggle to write them.
